

When the apples are sweet, oh I just eat and eat
Till my buttons are most apt to fly,
And Daddy can't see what the trouble can be.
When I say that I don't care for pie!

When the leaves of the beech-tree are turning to gold,
When the hazel-nuts damping keep clean,
When the butternuts fall and the squirrels are bold,
Then comes in the forest are...

But my favorite tree only comes once a year,
When the others are covered with snow;
It stands up in the night in the drawing room bright,
And still apples and nuts on it grow.

Wilbur's for each child—sitting before his fire smoldering his pipe and when he stopped to explain matters Mr. White Whistle put out the fire to extinguish the smoke. The smoke filled the room so that it lay over in the corner where the child. But it was what was written on the back door which caused the father of nature to make up his mind all alone.

"I'm sorry, Father," said the mother. "The woman who also helped the babies of the little ones to walk the other day, she was in a hurry. She took her coat off and left it on the floor. That is why we were late getting home."

Christmas Neckties

By S. E. KISER

Blandford began when he was a mere boy to send his money home to his mother, who lives in a little town far away. She is getting old now, and the small bank account left by her husband when he died was exhausted years ago, says the Chicago Times-Herald. But Blandford has managed to keep her fairly comfortable, though he has had to work hard. He came to the city poor, uneducated, with no trade or occupation, and has found the climbing steep and rocky.

When he got married he wanted his mother to come to the city to live, but after she had tried it for a few weeks she got to longing for the old home and so the big wood smoke began again to curl up from the chimney of the little house away back there in the hillside-looking village on the hill.

One day when Blandford's wife was running through his mind she found a pile of small leather portfolios. When the big home there which she held them up before her and asked how on earth they ever came into his possession.

"Those are Christmas presents from mother," he said.

"They're the worst," she groaned, "the people who buy them never seem to like what you send them back looking things."

"Well, you see," he explained, "the man brought to the Christmas tree without considering me."

"Yes, and you had to send him the money that she demanded and with two. The lady was angry. It all used to exchange presents, but it seems to me that you might have hinted to her that you didn't need money."

"I'd done that, she would probably have bought something more expensive and denied herself," he said.

For two or three years the neckties kept coming at Christmas time, always accompanied by a pair of gloves that were three sizes too large for the lady who was expected to wear them, and never the right kind, anyway.

Then one winter the stock flamed her wings over the Blandford home, and from deep in a crib that was full of white downy things a little baby looked up into happy eyes.

When the next Christmas came there was in addition to the necktie and the gloves a tiny mitten.

The stockings were full of candy.

We Offer $1,000

For a Disease Germ That Liquozone Can't Kill.

On every bottle of Liquozone we publish an offer of $1,000 for a germ that it cannot kill. We do that to convince you that liquid oxygen does kill germs.

Any thing that kills germs is a poison to you and it cannot be taken internally. Liquozone alone can kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. It is the only way known—the only way one can conceive of—to destroy the cause of any germ disease.

Kills With Oxygen.

Liquozone is simply liquid oxygen—no drugs, no chemicals in it. It is the discovery of Bini, the great German chemist, who spent 20 years on it. His object was to get such an excess of oxygen in staple form into the blood, that no germ could live in any membrane or tissue.

Oxygen is life to an animal—the very source of vitality. It is the essential part of air. Its effects are exhilarating, purifying. It's Nature's greatest tonic. But germs are vampires, and this excess of oxygen, the very life of an animal—is deadly to vegetable matter. Liquozone charges the blood with such an excess of oxygen that no germ can live where that blood goes. We spend 15 days in making each bottle.

We Paid $100,000

for the American rights to Liquozone.

the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery. Before making the purchase we tested the product for years through physicians in the most difficult germ diseases. We proved that Liquozone does what nothing else in the world can accomplish, and that the results are unvarying.

A discovery that could command such a price is something you should know, if you need it. We are doing our part by supplying the first bottle free. Will you do your part by requesting it?

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases, all that medicine can do for these troubles is to help. Nature overcomes the germs and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.
